

Use at Home Tips

Type to Learn is a cloud-based program able to be used on students' home devices. This allows them to access the remote database so their scores and progress are maintained consistently with the work they do in school.

Teachers can then assign Type to Learn lessons and activities as keyboarding homework!

Here are some tips for using Type to Learn at home:

- Assign students to complete certain lesson or lessons for homework.
- Set activities to be Required, and assign them for students to practice at home.
- Assign an assessment test to be taken at home.
- Use settings to prevent students from progressing past a certain point in the program, so they don't get too far ahead without you confirming their performance.
- Educate parents on proper keyboarding technique, posture, and ergonomics, so they can observe and correct students as they work.
